

ABOUT STREETDOME

StreetDome is a unique and innovative culturehouse, located at the new growth- and development area by the harbor in Haderslev, Denmark.

StreetDome is conceived to be the main attraction in Haderslev's new harbor area containing culture-, education-, business- and residential buildings, developed to replace the old industrial harbor.

The culture house contains indoors and outdoor facilities for action sports and street culture, with a core focus on skateboarding, rollerskating, bmx, parkour, climbing, mountainbiking, discgolf, concerts and cultural events.

"Everything must be skateable"

That is a core StreetDome statement about the philosophy of functional and performative architecture, that can create physical activity, social meetings and cultural innovation.

StreetDome is a bottom up project, where a group of users teamed up with a development team, all with roots in skateboarding and action sports. The vision was to make a facility that sets a new standard for streetsport facilities and develop a city brand for the town of Haderslev.
